Putting together a successful motion picture requires thought, involvement, organization and overall diligent work. A successful school year also blends these characteristics. The 1977-78 showing of Louisburg College exemplified an attempt to gain these.

But it's the actors who add their own flare to the picture, as the community, faculty and staff, and most of all, the students, do to a school. They are the ones who create the . . .

Girl's volleyball again proved to be one of the more successful athletic teams at Louisburg College. Under new head coach Shelia Cotton, the Canettes held their own against many of the state's major universities and dominated junior college opponents.

Volleyball has grown in interest and importance in recent years and this year was no exception as the team hosted its own tournament. Defending state champion, Duke University; North Carolina; and top-rated Catonsville Junior College competed along with the Canettes. Duke won the event, roaring through without losing a match. But what most of the Louisburg fans were waiting to see was the contest against Catonsville, presumed to be one of the nation's strongest junior college squads. A strong showing by the home team resulted in a surprisingly easy victory by scores of 15-6, 14-16, 16-14.

Volleyball

The girls ended the regular season with a 15-14 mark. They entered post-season play in the first Region X NJCAA Volleyball Tournament. In their first contest they rolled over Wingate by scores 15-2 and 15-1, their widest margin of the year. They then took the court against arch-rival Peace College. Perhaps playing their best ball of the year they defeated Peace twice to win the Region X Championship. This earned them a berth to the nationals, to be held in Catonsville, Maryland.

For their play in the tournament and throughout the year sophomores Edie Bailey and Janice Rodgers were nominated for the NJCAA All-American team. Also recognized for outstanding play during the year along with Bailey and Rodgers, were Suzanne George and Jetanna McClain who were named to the All-Region X team. Also named to the All-tournament team were Bailey, Rodgers and Cintonya Allison.

Advancing to nationals, the Canettes were eliminated early marking the end of a successful season.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The loss of four starters from a conference championship team qualified this as a rebuilding year for the men's basketball team. Despite much inexperience, and close losses in the early going, the team came through with a 16-14 record and a second place conference finish.

The season began auspiciously as the Canes dropped their first three games, including the Homecoming contest to Wingate. Another loss to King's College followed in a tournament sponsored by the Louisburg Jaycees in Holton Gymnasium. In the next game of the tourney, the Canes finally broke into the win column, registering a 64-57 victory over Lenoir Community College. Freshman guard Twig Little poured in 20 points to lead the effort. Another win over the Carolina J.V.'s brought the record to 2-5.

Play began in December with a loss to Surry Community College. In the next outing, Stan Lewter and Ottis Nixon combined for 52 points in a 81-53 victory over the Duke University J.V.'s. Conference play got under way in a rough style as the Hurricanes dropped a close 72-71 game to Mt. Olive.

Christmas holidays began following a loss to King's and a win over Newport News Apprentice School.

The new year seemed to provide a new incentive for the Canes as they played much improved ball. For the first time all year the Canes put together back to back wins over Frederick's Military Academy and an important conference tussle with Southeastern Community College. Stan Lewter again led the way with nights of 21 and 12 points.

A crucial conference matchup with tough Chowan saw the Canes come out on the short end of a 75-73 battle. This left their league mark at 1-2. The team traveled to Newport News to play in that team's tournament. Despite some good play, they dropped two, one-point games.

One big event of each Hurricane season is the participation in the Pickle Classic at Mt. Olive College. This year it proved to be a turning point in the season as the inexperienced mistakes finally turned into veteran play. The Canes, led by tournament M.V.P. Stan Lewter and all-tourney selection James Greene, won the event. Greene's shot with 2 seconds left insured victory in the opening contest against Frederick's. Another close 62-60 victory over Mt. Olive in the tourney finals secured the championship.

Two more conference victories made it four straight for the Canes, with an upcoming contest with regional foe Ferrum looming ahead. A large crowd was on hand to see the Canes play perhaps their best game of the year in defeating the physical Panthers 87-78. Steve Brown, Stan Lewter, and James Greene all scored in double figures to lead the way.

A possible letdown resulted in the next game as the team was edged by the U.N.C. J.V.'S 65-64. A repeat win over Frederick's Military led up to a crucial contest with league-leading Chowan. Although nip and tuck the whole game, Chowan managed to stop the Canes again by a slim two point margin 61-59.

A conference win over Mt. Olive and a loss to powerful Anderson Junior College set up the re-match with Ferrum. But without leading scorer Stan Lewter, who was recovering from the flu, the Canes were no match for the Panthers falling 65-51 in the regular season finale.

Entering Conference tournament play the team was upset by Mt. Olive in the opening round ending hopes of a regional tournament berth.
